
Thursday
March 8, 2012
12 – 1 pm

Anthropology
Room: 206

SPEAKER: Thomas D. Rogers (History, Emory)

Author of The Deepest Wounds: A Labor and Environmental History of Sugar in Northeast Brazil (UNC Press, 2010), awarded the Alfred A. Wallace Prize, Professor Rogers is interested in the ways labor and environmental histories intertwine. He will be discussing his current research project on the first ethanol boom in Brazil.

Sponsored by Emory Program in Development Studies